

A WMU/SMU Joint Program in “International Transport and Logistics”

- It is a specialized MSc Program in maritime transport delivered by Sweden-based World Maritime University (WMU) in collaboration with Shanghai Maritime University (SMU) since 2005.
- It is a full-time course taught in English by an world-class international faculty.
- It’s carefully designed teaching structure integrating classroom learning, enterprise practice and overseas study.
- Seminars and field visits are organized to places, including the port of Shanghai, which is the largest port in the world.
- It is delivered in Shanghai, a fast growing center of global shipping and one of the most dynamic and culturally diversified cities in the world.
- Students from China and other countries around the world live and study to start a professional networking in the heart of maritime center in the future.

- The program has attracted each year about 40 students from both China (about 2/3) and other countries in Europe, North America and South-East Asia (1/3).
- The graduates of the program are welcomed in industry. Graduates take important positions as administrators and managers in well-known shipping logistics enterprises home and abroad like China COSCO shipping, Maersk etc.
- Applicants should have
 - 1) a BSc. Degree or the highest grade certificate of competency for unrestricted service as master mariner or chief engineer;
 - 2) a certificate of English test (minimum English proficiency is IELTS 6.0 or equivalent TOEFL 80).
- The program will start in March 2018 and finish by the end of August2019.
- The tuition fee is RMB 89,900, the fee for teaching materials is RMB 5,000 and the annual living costs are around RMB 48,000.

For more information

Visit: wmu.se/msc-shanghai

Contact: Ms. Daisy Zhang, Ms. GU Weihong, Ms. HU Fangfang

Tel: +86 21 58605519

Email: jiezhang@shmtu.edu.cn; whgu@shmtu.edu.cn; ffhu@shmtu.edu.cn

